

BatchMaster ERP for Skin Care

Enhances complexion of your business

Changing consumer lifestyles, increasing disposable incomes and rising consciousness towards personal grooming has resulted in a boom in the global skin care industry. But there still are a few areas where the skin care product manufacturers lag behind. Controlling the manufacturing cost, managing the stringent regulatory compliances, putting up with fluctuating prices for raw materials, thin margins, delivering safe, high quality and 'green' products etc. are some of many issues that continue to challenge them.

The solution to effectively deal with these challenges is BatchMaster ERP for Skin Care. Tailor-made for the skin care industry, it supports manufacturing requirements in product development, production, quality, costing, and compliance for both private label as well as the ones who manufacture their own range of products. Some of its unique features help manufacturers meet cGMP requirements, have access to real-time business data, manage costs, secure formulation, with batch sizing and scaling, lot tracking and to have improved decision making.
